Klaus Heinecke is a London-Copenhagen based editor. He has been working in Denmark since 1998, cutting shorts , promos and ads, before moving to England in 2003 to pursue his dream of working on larger scale films with complex narratives. Since then he has worked on feature films, TV Drama and TV Comedy besides cutting 20 short films that have achieved nominations and won awards in the festival circuit. Companies he has worked for include 5 time Emmy Award nominee Danish Broadcasting Corporation on their drama series "The Killing" and "Summer" and Passion Pictures as the animation-editor on the feature "Nutcracker – The Untold Story". Short films include "True Colours" (90+ Festivals, 7 Awards including Winner Special Jury Prize Premier Plans '07) and the controversial whistleblower documentary "Being Frank" (Winner Best Documentary on Human Rights, Skena Up Festival 2008). Klaus was trained by acclaimed feature, commercial and documentary editors in Denmark and at The National Film and Television School in England, where he was awarded the Christie Prize for most outstanding student 2005. Furthermore Klaus has 5 years of experience assisting on features and he collaborated on the creative editing of the multi-award winning feature-doc "Maximum Penalty", as well as the critically acclaimed road-movie "Point of View, that won the award for Best Feature Film at the Mannheim-Heidelberg International Film Festival 2001.
